Who It Is For

-  Schools needing student ID cards
-  Gyms issuing access control badges
-  Daycares creating staff identification
-  Small businesses printing loyalty cards
-  Organizations with moderate print volume
-  Users requiring vivid color output

Who It Is Not For

-  High-volume enterprise printing needs
-  Users requiring dual-sided printing
-  Printers with USB connectivity only
-  Applications needing faster print speeds
-  Operations using non-glossy card stock
-  Users needing third-party ribbon support

Trade Offs to Consider

-  Print speed limited to 1 page per minute
-  No permanent installation option
-  Requires compatible printer model
-  Limited color options available
-  Single-sided printing only
-  Higher cost per print compared to bulk

How It Compares

- Better than third-party services for control
- Slower than laser printers for high volumes
- More expensive than bulk ribbons
- Less flexible than multi-format printers
- Easier to replace than inkjet cartridges
- More durable than dye-sublimation ribbons

Choose This If...

- ✓ Need affordable in-house ID printing
- ✓ Require vivid color for cards
- ✓ Print moderate volumes regularly
- ✓ Want easy cartridge replacement
- ✓ Use SMART-21S compatible printer
- ✓ Prioritize print quality over speed

Skip This If...

- ✗ Need high-volume daily printing
- ✗ Require dual-sided card printing
- ✗ Use non-compatible printer models
- ✗ Need faster print speeds
- ✗ Want lower per-print costs
- ✗ Require multi-format support
